CHARLIE IS LOST.

And His Dear Aunt Mopes For the Return of the Wanderer.

Charlie's aunt came into police headquarters the other day and wanted the department to go out and hunt for Charlie, whose last name is O'Brien. Missing children are reported every hour of the day at headquarters, and they did not see anything unusual in Charlie's disappearance until the facts came out. They turned Charlie's aunt, who lives at 13 Sheldon street, over to Detective Swan.

The detective, with due regard for the sorrow at the thought of the lost Charlie, prepared to ask a number of questions. Tears almost welled up in his eyes as he pictured the little lost one wandering helplessly about in the streets for a great city.

"What time yesterday did you miss him?" he gently inquired.

"Sure, it wasn't yesterday at all I missed him," said Charlie's aunt.

"How long ago was it?" softly asked the detective.

"Three years ago come last Monday," was the answer.

Mr. Swan fell back in his chair with a dull thud. "Three years, did you say?" and he looked out of the window so he could have a laugh all by himself. "Have you a picture of him?" asked Mr. Swan, and the caller produced a tintype of a clever looking little chap.

"That was taken some years ago," said Charlie's aunt. "He was 6 years old then."

"And how old was he when he disappeared?" asked Mr. Swan.

"He was over 17," was the answer.

Mr. Swan gasped again. "And then he's about 21 now," he remarked. "And then he's been missing three years, and you don't know where he is, and we've got the picture of a boy 6 years old to find him with. That picture looks about as much like Charlie as I do. The best thing you can do if you want to find Charlie is to advertise."—Providence

NOTIFIED BY A BELL RINGER.

How Western Villagers Were Attracted to a Theatrical Man.

"A theatrical man has varied experiences, and some funny incidents are continually coming before him," said a showman to a reporter. "The one night stands are profuse of episodes and profanity, especially the latter, but they also afford a good bit of amusement after the annoyance is over. They are not quite so awful now as they used to be. A few years ago a company I was piloting through the west came upon a rather unpromising town, but fate willed that we should give one appearance. The hall was hired was a crude affair, and so were the necessities. There was no box office, no reserved seats, and I had to stand at the door and collect the admission money. At 7:30—not a soul had appeared. At 7:45 a great big chap came strolling in and asked me if I wanted a ring. 'What's a ring?' I asked. 'A man to ring the bell. You'll never get folks up here to see this show till you hire somebody to go down town and pull the town hall bell. They are used to it and won't come without.' I took the ring at his word, gave him half a dollar, and he departed smiling. Soon the deep clanging of a bell smote upon the air, and in less than no time the town people came pouring in, enough of them to make a fair audience. In spite of the fact that our attraction had been set forth on the billboards and in the local papers, if that bell hadn't been pulled we would have played to vacant benches."—Washington Post.

Fought Sky of the Trap.

Some years since, while hunting in northern Michigan, I tried, with the aid of a professional trapper, to entrap a fox who made nightly visits to a spot where the entrails of a deer had been thrown. Although we tried every expedient that suggested itself to us, we were unsuccessful, and, what seemed very singular, we always found the trap sprung. My companion insisted that the animal dug beneath it, and putting his paw beneath the jaw pushed down the pan with safety to himself, but though the appearance seemed to confirm it I could hardly credit his explanation. Another year, in another locality of the same region, an old and experienced trapper assured me of its correctness and said in confirmation that he had several times caught them, after they had made two or three successful attempts to spring the trap, by the simple expedient of setting it upside down, when, of course, the act of undermining and touching the pan would bring the paw within the grasp of the jaws.

A Woman With Beauty and Nerve.

Since the death of Seyffert, the Vienna executioner, the authorities have received scores of applications for the place, of which the most curious is that of a pretty woman, who sends her photograph with the following letter:

"I am 18 years old and possess great physical strength. My sex and above all my beauty fit me for the employment I solicit. The fact is that the last person on whom the condemned man fixes his gaze is the executioner, who nine times out of ten is repulsively homely. How much more consoling it would be for a criminal before entering into eternity to have the knot adjusted by the soft hands of a woman, whose bewitching glances would cause him to forget for an instant the terrors of a moral agony worse than death."—Vienna Letter.

ABRUPT CONAN DOYLE.

The English Novelist's Queer Antics In a Massachusetts Town.

Dr. Doyle, the story runs, was engaged to lecture in Morristown under the auspices of St. Bartholomew's school, and the 95 boys of the school were in a quiver of excitement at the prospect of seeing and meeting the creator of Sherlock Holmes. The head master, the Rev. F. E. Edwards, with the most hospitable intentions, invited Dr. Doyle to dinner before the lecture, inviting also at the same time Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stockton, great friends of the clergyman. Dr. Doyle declined the invitation, to the great regret indeed of the host, the two guests and four or five boys that had been specially favored by being asked to meet the big author. At the dinner hour, however, to the surprise of Mr. Edwards, he received a telephone message from Dr. Doyle at the station, announcing: "I'm here. What shall I do?"

"Why, we didn't expect you, but do come right over. We just sat down to dinner."

Swirling along, the Englishman soon appeared, but despite diplomatic coaxing could not be prevailed upon to enter the dining room. He wouldn't, he said, meet any one. No!

Although assured that only Mr. and Mrs. Stockton and four boys were present, that the dinner was very informal, he still remained obdurate.

"Can't I eat my dinner alone?" he asked bluntly.

So be his dinner alone, devouring several plates of roast beef and frequent relays of vegetables with lightning rapidity. Unknown to any one in the house, the brawny Englishman soon fled and was next seen in the lecture hall of the school. A large audience was present, and every courtesy was extended to him.

After the lecture, with insulting haste, Dr. Doyle pocketed the $300 fee and hastened to the train. The only person, in fact, that met the distinguished British author was Mr. Stockton, and as the author of "Roderick Ranges" introduced the lecture, the latter couldn't very well avoid meeting him.

But the 25 boys were sadly disappointed at not shaking hands with the hero of their imaginations. The whole proceeding of the talented author was, in fact, so foreign to what has been reported of him by men and papers that Morristown's Four Hundred are wondering whether Dr. Doyle could possibly have thought the town a jay place, and that he therefore dreaded meeting bucolic enthusiasts.—Boston Beacon.

PENALTY FOR PRIVATE USE.

The Surprising Dilemma of an Illinois Congressman's Constituents.

An Illinois congressman is now going about the corridors of the capitol wondering what is going to happen to one of his constituents. Last spring he was requested by the said constituent to exercise in his behalf one of the functions of a statesman, to wit, to send him some garden seed from the department of agriculture. The member hastened to comply, and a contingent of seed was at once dispatched to the Illinois man. They went, of course, in a government envelope or envelope by mail, with the usual legend, "$500 penalty for private use."

In due course the congressman, to show his interest in the welfare of his constituent, wrote to him asking if the seed had been received and if they had grown all right. The constituent replied that they had been planted and had come up finely, "but" said he in his letter, "what shall I do with the stuff I have raised? I notice there is a penalty of $500 for private use, so I don't like to take any chance."

This was a construction put upon it which the congressman had not before thought of, and the more he thought of it the more he wondered what would happen to that constituent in Illinois, and he is still wondering.—Washington Letter.

No Sympathy For Lady Churchill.

There is a world of significance which is fully appreciated in this country in the fact that the queen sent a warm message of condolence to the dowager Duchess of Marlborough on the death of her son, but no word to the bereaved widow, Lady Randolph Churchill. The omission carries with it peculiar bitterness, because Lady Randolph has been most faithfully devoted during her husband's long illness, and whatever gossip may have said in the past there has been no question in recent years of her rank and prominence in the best social circles. She has of course never been able to expiate the crime of being an American.—London Dispatch.

Substitute for A. B. No. 81—To readjust the boundaries of Washoe, Ormsby and Lyon counties came up on special order at 2 o'clock.

McNaughton offered to amend by the addition of Section No. 6—To restore to Esmeralda county that portion of her territory that was taken from her in 1881 and added to Lyon county. This was his amendment proposed just before the adjournment of day before yesterday.

Noel renewed his motion to indefinitely postpone the amendment and on roll call was carried—18 to 12; two not voting.

LYON OUT OF THE FIGHT.

Newman moved that Section 3 of the substitute be stricken out. This motion carried on roll call by a vote of 18 to 10; two not voting. This squarely leaves Lyon county out of the contest, and the bill as it now stands only interests directly Ormsby, Washoe and Storey counties.

Noel moved that substitute for A. B. No. 81, as amended, be ordered engrossed. Carried and so ordered.

Beck, in order to show the feeling of the people of the eastern portion of Washoe county in regard to annexation to Lyon, had the clerk read a protest numerous signed from residents of Washoe and vicinity.

They objected on the ground that it would be of serious detriment to them and their interests in every respect.

They would be thirty miles or more from the county seat, Dayton; the county lying between was comparatively unproductive and such as a crowd would not think worth flying over.

Moreover in order to conveniently travel to the county seat they would have to go around by way of the Central Pacific, the Virginia & Truckee and the Carson & Colorado railroads.

Washoe contains a population of about 1,000 souls, a prosperous community, satisfied to remain so, and preferring to stay with Washoe county where all their interests and conveniences for traffic and travel lie.

Beck said he had another protest from the residents of the strip at the south end, which Ormsby was after, but the reading was not called for.

GENERAL FILE.

By Russell, A. B. No. 84—Relief of Thomas Gibben, $250 balance due for building the State University at Elko, a number of years ago. This is an old balance long due, but Gibben has been long lost sight of till he recently turned up in Arizona, where he is poor and willing to have this good bit of relief. The bill passed unanimously.

Allen of Eureka moved that Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 9, the Woman Suffrage bill, be now taken up. A large number of ladies were expectantly present, but it was concluded that it was rather too late to start in on sufficient for the day was the evil thereof, therefore the motion was lost.

At 5 o'clock the Assembly adjourned.

INCIDENTALS.

Our Thursday morning's report was a little misleading on one small point. If there was any stealing going on McNaughton of Esmeralda wanted his county to have a little of the advantages if possible. He was not after a slice of Washoe turkey, but he wanted back that slice of Esmeralda that was taken off in 1881 and given to Lyon county. But Lyon has got her paw on the Lyon's share and won't give it back.

The failure to pass the Wise bill to prevent women from visiting, frequenting or remaining in public saloons may be gratifying to the ladies of Hem-boldt county, but will create no particular sensation or comment in this section, where they prefer churches to saloons. Even the little saloon in the State Capitol adjoining the Assembly chamber, known as the "Well," never has any lady visitors, and the framed painting of "Rebekah at the Well," would cut no figure here.

The principal business before the United States Circuit Court is trying people for selling whisky to Indians. Most of these cases are from the eastern part of the State.

About half the Legislators spent Washington's Birthday on the Comstock. They will all be at the Inaugural ball next Monday night. A. D.

PLACER MINES.

A Bill to Regulate the Location Thereof.

Senator White of California has introduced a bill which provides that in all entries of placer mines made under the provisions of the Revised Statutes by associations, or persons, or their assigns, proof of discovery of minerals on each twenty acres of land embraced by the entries shall not be required, but proofs of discovery of minerals and development thereof on any part of the entire land shall be deemed sufficient. It is provided, however, that the full amount of $500 must be expended for the development of each claim, as now required by law.

Jack Caughlin says it was a mistake about there being a flag thrown to the breeze on the Court House cupola on Washington's Birthday for the reason that the county is not a possessor of the stars and stripes on the grounds of economy.

Lyon county has withdrawn from the combination to dismember Washoe county. The people of Lyon elected Silver representatives and they could not be a party to such a high-handed outrage as compelling the people of Washoe to travel through Reno and Carson to reach the county seat.

The citizens of Tecoma, Washington, are using water as a means of ridding the town of tramps. They take them to the calaboose and turn a stream of water from the fire hose on them. A few minutes of this treatment is all that is required to make the drenched prisoners plead for permission to leave the town.

Entertainments seem to be the order of the day, and there is talk of some of the "old timers" entering the contest and helping along any good cause. There are not less than four in town that have more than a local reputation and they have expressed their willingness to volunteer. The proposition will be considered during the week and if arrangements are perfected an entertainment will be given.

Invalid 3 Years,
Cured by Hood's

"I was so weak and nervous that I could not bear the least noise, and I had to walk with crutches for six months, as I could not put one of my feet to the floor. Physicians did not do me any good, so a friend told me to get Hood's Sarsaparilla, but I said there was no use. However, after thinking the matter over, I decided to give it a trial, and have taken six bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I feel as well as any one could wish to be, and can do any kind of work. I feel as if my friends to take Hood's Sarsaparilla for I believe it will do them good."
